

Dan Jubert
Head of school at Shanghai Community
International School
Pudong

Shanghai's strong collection of international schools have been busy this summer. Some have renovated their facilities while others have added new features like a 3D printing suite — all in an effort to provide the best education possible.

Greetings and a warm welcome from Shanghai Community International School-Pudong campus. We had an exciting summer of renovations, which resulted in a brand-new, state-of-the-art campus serving students nursery through 12th grade. Students are thrilled with the new look as each division — Early Childhood, Lower School, Middle School, and High School — has their own separate floors, classrooms, and unique areas.

SCIS is and always has been a family school, and through our growth and change, we have kept this core belief that school is an intimate place where each student is nurtured and challenged. Our distinctive setting in this cosmopolitan city affords us a student population consisting of over 40 nationalities, creating an exceptional environment to develop an understanding of people from around the world.

I welcome back all of our students and families in what is sure to be a banner year at SCIS Pudong.

MORE GREETINGS FROM SCHOOL HEADS INSIDE